METRO

This is a fast and reliable means of transportation if you're looking to visit Porto and its outskirts. The ticket is the same as for the bus and once you validate it you can travel as much as you want for one hour. However, be careful to check carefully across how many zones you will be travelling and make sure you buy the appropriate ticket (if you're travelling across two zones, you should have a Z2 ticket, if you're travelling across three zones, a Z3, and so on.)

Here you can find maps and timetables: <http://www.metrodoporto.pt/en>

BUS

If you would like to use the bus, make sure you buy your ticket in advance (at one of the many 'Payshops', just look for the red sign) as it will be cheaper than buying it inside the bus (+- €1.20/€1.85). These tickets can be used both for the bus and the METRO.

TYPICAL FOOD

FRANCESINHA

The most typical dish from Porto: a sandwich with a good steak, some fresh sausage and ham, covered in cheese and in a hot sauce made with tomato, beer, meat and a whole lot more. It usually comes with a side of home-made French fries, can have a fried egg on top of it and goes well with some cold beer.

BACALHAU (CODFISH)

It's said that bacalhau can be cooked in more than a hundred ways, and all of them are good. So be sure to try as many as you can.
